

Automatic speed control

Optimum speed for increased production

Automatic speed control for bandsaws with frequency control or fixed sawing speed. The software performs cutting-geometry-based calculations for each log dimension and saw pattern currently processed. The data are provided from an existing scanner. The result of these calculations is presented as the theoretically highest possible feed speed.

Söderhamn Eriksson's system for automatic speed control works equally well for saw lines with full optimization and saw lines with fixed settings.

